U. S. AIMS JAP DRIVE FROM MANY ROUTES

General's Islands One Possible
Blow at Tokyo

Forces.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 21—American leaders are giving consideration to the possibility of a drive against Japan from more than one direction, according to a report from Tokyo.

MacArthur, in a speech in Tokyo, said that the United States would not wait for Japan to attack first.

3 BURNED IN CAREY BLAST

Woman and Two Men in Critical Condition After Explosion Wrecks House.

CAREY, O., March 21—Three Carey residents are in critical condition at Findlay hospital and a Carey home is virtually in ruins as the result of an explosion yesterday which is believed to be the aftermath of the explosion Thursday of a New York Central tank car loaded with crude oil.

The injured are Mrs. William Kummerer, her husband, a township highway employee, and Tracy Johnson, also an employee of the township highway department.

All suffered third degree burns and physicians at the hospital last night held little hope for Mrs. Kummerer's recovery.

The explosion in which they were burned left the Kummerer home virtually a shattered shell, although it was not damaged by fire. The force of the explosion tore away the foundation, the north and west walls were blown out, every window was shattered, the kitchen floor above the basement where the explosion occurred was split wide open and the chimney was blown from the top of the house.

Investigation begun
Municipal officials and the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. office began an investigation shortly after the accident.

City Councilman John Pahl expressed the belief that oil from the tank car which exploded near Carey Thursday got into a storm sewer and that fumes seeped into drain tiles.

Residents of homes all along the street on which the Kummerer home is located, reported they had smelled gas fumes all day.

About 2:45 yesterday afternoon Mrs. Kummerer smelled gas fumes and became frightened. As she went outside to seek help Mr. Kummerer and Mr. Johnson were passing in a township truck and she hailed them.

Staff for Marion, Bucyrus, Galion, Mt. Gilead Listed

Announcement of the entire staff of officers for the newly organized Marion unit of the Civil Air Patrol was received today from Washington where the names had been sent for federal approval.

In addition to Marion the new unit will serve Bucyrus, Galion, and Mt. Gilead. It was originally planned that Delaware would be included in the Marion area; however, it was recently added to the Columbus section.

Officers whose appointments were certified are:

Richard E. Parish of 366 North Prospect street as executive officer and second in command. Active in civilian flight training and Marion airport activities, he will serve as a liaison officer between the commander and other staff officers.

F. E. Kimmel of Mansfield as adjutant will be an assistant to Parish. He will keep all records of the unit and will transmit orders of local as well as national commander to members.

Dr. Thomas H. Sutherland in the capacity of personnel and medical officer will be responsible for the physical fitness of the entire membership. Dr. Sutherland lives at 404 Brightwood drive and is also medical examiner of the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

W. R. Reichenstein of 604 King avenue as intelligence officer will be in charge of all intelligence work.

REPORT BATTLE IN PHILIPPINES

U. S. and Filipino Troops Inflict Heavy Damage in Mindanao Attack.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 21—The war department reported today a surprise raid by American and Philippine troops on Japanese forces near Zamboanga on the Philippine island of Mindanao in which heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy.

American and Filipino losses were described in a communique as negligible.

Meanwhile the harbor defenses of Manila bay were reported under "extremely heavy" shelling from Japanese artillery, which included 240-millimeter (about eight-inch) guns but the war department said little damage of military consequence was done.

Officials said the reference to American troops on Mindanao might have been the Philippine Scouts, or forces sent to the islands from the continental United States before the Pacific war, or both.

The Scouts, although Filipino, are in integral part of the United States army but limited to service in the islands.

Who is in command in Mindanao was unannounced. In early stages of the fighting for the large southern island, Lieutenant Colonel Roger Hillsman was in command of forces which were forced out of the port of Davao.

The scene of the raid on the Japanese near Zamboanga is about 500 miles almost due south of the Bataan fighting front. The picturesque city was occupied by the enemy this month.

Fighting on the Bataan peninsula continued in a lull. In Australia, the war department announced, Prime Minister John Curtin had appointed Lieutenant General George H. Brett, U. S. army, to command of Australian forces as well as United States forces operating on the southern continent.

War Dept. To Build Cleveland Plane Plant
By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 21—The war department announced today that an aircraft assembly plant costing more than $5,000,000 would be constructed in Cleveland.

The department said contracts for construction and operation of the plant have not yet been awarded. Details were not disclosed.

City Faces New Problems As War Work Swells Population

Manufacturing Plant Developments in This Vicinity Find Community Preparing for Expansion.

Marion today was quietly preparing to cope with a variety of problems being laid at its doorstep by the start of building operations in connection with the war manufacturing plant developments in this vicinity.

Although the first effects are just being felt, others will appear daily, and both public officials and private citizens are individuals to be affected are getting ready for the new or added responsibilities.

Housing, health, police and fire protection—these are but a few of the problems developing. Inquiry showed that they are being taken to meet all of them. In fact, it is safe to state that Marion probably is ahead of other cities that have been similarly affected, for the experiences of other communities that had sudden industrial expansion resulting from war manufacturing work are being used as a guide by officials and private citizens here.

Health Provisions
Perhaps the No. 1 problem involved in any substantial shift in population is that of public health, and this is to receive first attention here. City council Monday night is expected to consider this problem and possibly act to set up regulations covering trader camps and other necessary ordinances regarding public health. It is expected the county commissioners and the county health department will join council and the city health department in any program required necessary to safeguard health.

The county health department is already taking the initiative, having called a special meeting of the county board of health for Monday afternoon to act on regulations to govern trader camps, trader camps and food handling establishments in the county outside of Marion city. All phases of work that a sudden shift of population into Marion county might involve will be studied.

City and county officials have given some thought to the inevitable need for more police and fire protection, but plans are still tentative. Preparations are being made to clear the way for coping with these problems as they develop, officials said. Caught in the midst of a year for which the financial program has been laid out in advance, officials do not have funds in sight to finance a very comprehensive expansion of these municipal departments, but most officials nevertheless feel that some expansion will be necessary in the near future.

Housing Situation
One of the most perplexing problems is that of housing Marion. Real Estate Board officials said their organization is making a study of the possibilities, but that the problem is almost beyond remedy without new construction. Newcomers to Marion in the last few weeks have left most real estate agencies without any lead of houses for rent. Some are for sale, and there is increasing interest in those on the market.

Two things being studied may help in the housing problem. It is expected that building supply dealers and real estate dealers will reopen the question of having Marion placed in a defense housing area in the near future. This was considered several weeks ago but interested persons were informed there apparently was little need for such action at that time. Now, the picture has changed and such a request is expected to get favorable action.

This, real estate dealers pointed out, would give impetus to the remodeling of existing buildings and the possible splitting up of old large homes into multiple-unit residences which would be the quickest way to make new living units available. Such a move, also, probably would encourage the construction of more new homes.

Federal Aid Possible
If private capital is not forthcoming to finance a housing program adequate to meet the problem of housing defense and war production workers, there is always the possibility that some federal agency may step in and do the job, one real estate dealer pointed out.

Meanwhile, such public utility concerns as the railroads, the Marion Water Co., the Marion Reserve Power Co., the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., and the Marion Rapid Transit Co. are making preparations to take care of their part in the expansion of war industrial work.

The Marion Water Co. reports it has adequate facilities for a substantial increase in the daily volume of water pumped.

Capacities of both the electric power and gas companies also are flexible enough to meet any increase in demand now in sight, their officials said.

The Marion Rapid Transit Co. has already announced the purchase of one new bus and delivery of two more to be placed in operation soon. Since these will

"Salvage for Victory" Drive Launched in Marion County

Community Enters Nationwide Movement To Collect Waste Material Needed To Aid War Effort.

Marion county today took part in the nationwide campaign to salvage war weapons from waste when Mayor Spence announced the appointment of the first group of members on a county-wide "Salvage for Victory" committee.

At the head of the list of appointees are: Safety Service Director Clyde C. Caldwell and George H. Albert, who will serve as chairman.

Others on the list are Mayor Spence himself, Fire Chief T. J. McFarland, E. M. Bredemeyer, representing the American Legion, Fred Stodder, Harding area head of the Boy Scouts, Miss Edith Treat, Girl Scout director, Major Joseph Head of the Salvation Army, County School Supt. D. T. Mills, R. H. Bohner, manager of the Kroger store, and Frank Ketter, chief of all town wardens.

The purpose of the committee is to acquaint residents of the county with the importance of salvaging material needed in the manufacturing of war supplies, the chairman said. More specifically, the committee will carry on activities to keep the flow of scrap and waste materials useful.

These things are wanted
Scrap metal—it makes the steel, brass, copper, lead, and other materials for the guns, planes, tanks and ships we must have for victory.

Waste paper—it makes new papers and is used for America's fighting men at home and overseas.

Old rubber—Useful in making new rubber for our motorized forces, tanks and battleships, and for essential civilian needs.

Old tags—Needed for materials used in emergency buildings, wrapping tags for war industries and teams of livestock.

The Marion county program is part of a nationwide project which is a branch of a nationwide effort headed up by the General Salvage Section, Bureau of Industrial Conservation, War Production Board. Ohio activities are in general charge of Robert O. Wible of Columbus, executive secretary for the Ohio General Salvage Division. Mr. Wible has already been in Marion to outline plans of the program and plans to return to meet with the committee.

That the plan call for a campaign to keep the flow of scrap and waste materials useful for the war effort is pointed out by the committee's main objective is to get the waste and scrap materials into the hands of the industry—whether this is done by encouraging the sale of such materials to junk dealers or by having them turned in to the county for disposal by the committee does not matter.

The committee will expand to include a representative from each large concern in the county as a means of bringing into use all of the scrap materials available around factories and other business concerns.

The program will continue "for as long as the war continues" and will be a long one, the chairman said.

LA FOLLETTE SEEKS SMALL BUSINESS AID

Wants Civilian Needs Turned Over to Little Plants.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 21—Senator La Follette (D-Wis.) today assigned to small business the major share of war-time civilian supply contracts.

He said that big business was not doing its job in the war effort and that small businesses were being starved.

Four Army Fliers Die in Crash of Bomber

GREENFIELD, Ind., March 21—Four army fliers were killed near here last night in the crash and explosion of a two-engine bomber apparently crippled by engine trouble.

The victims, the only occupants of the airplane, were Lieut. Paul F. Hawkins, Ponca City, Okla., pilot; Lieut. James P. Van Story, Lincoln, N. C., co-pilot; Lieut. Lawrence J. Rux, Henderson, N. C., navigator; and Sgt. Robert W. Morgan, Uniontown, Pa., mechanic.

The bomber left Patterson field, near Dayton, O., on a routine operations flight at 4:30 p. m., and was due back at 6:30. It was reported to have circled over Anderson and Greenfield, apparently in distress, before the crash. One wing was sheared off as it nosed into the ground and some burning parts were scattered over a pasture.

The Stars Say—

For Sunday, March 22
SUNDAY'S horoscope may be read as dramatic, with promise of unusual and thrilling developments, in which large and bold issues are at stake. This is in relation to promotion, honors, favors or other tokens of public as well as private approval, in which rich rewards are promised by high groups or employers. Such bonuses should not be regarded by tempestuous, erratic, impulsive acts or manifestations of over-tought nerves or emotional stresses. Beware betrays.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of thrilling events in which promotion, preference, honors and the friendship of those in high places are imminent. But do not let this lead to impetuous or over-emotional conduct. Be calm and alert to some duplicity or fraud, especially with writings or documents.

A child born on this day may be in perilous, enthusiastic, over-rought and erratic, due to nervous tension and strange emotional stresses, which may work to its detriment. It may suffer from fraud, deception and treachery.

For Monday, March 23
MONDAY'S astrological forecast is based upon the predominant influence of the two "major benefices" of astrology which promise great prosperity, good fortune, much personal prestige, popularity and gratification. All things move toward success, happiness and happy goals, with personal and business ambitions attaining rich fruition. But beware extravagance, excess and envy.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the threshold of a most progressive, prosperous and happy year, with all things advancing upon the goals of heart's desire. There should be much friendly and social as well as romantic activity with festivity, hospitality and conviviality, teaching high spots of gaiety. But beware prodigality, extravagance, over excesses, that may incite jealousy.

A child born on this day should be bountifully endowed with all the graces and skills for a high place in artistic, literary or professional life. It should enjoy much prestige and happiness.

Anniversary of Radio Services To Be Marked

Rev. W. E. Zimmerman will preach an anniversary sermon Sunday night when First Church of the Nazarene observes the first anniversary of its "Good News" broadcasts. His sermon will be on "With Christ in the Garden, or Why Christ Sweat Drops of Blood." Mrs. Hazel Roddy of Rockford, O., soloist for the first six months of the programs, will sing "Hiding in Thee," by popular request, Howard Orr, present soloist and choir director, will sing and there will be a special number by the radio choir. The broadcast, from Station WMMR, will be from 8:15 instead of the usual half-hour. The first half will be devoted to interviewing members of the congregation and singing. A souvenir will be given to everyone attending the service.

Assembly Program Planned for Sunday

Dr. S. M. Ingman will teach the Sunday school lesson Sunday at 10 a. m. in Epworth Methodist church when all the departments assemble in the main auditorium for a program. The classes will meet separately at 9:30 a. m. The program will be as follows:

Music by Sunday school orchestra, directed by William Dowler; hymn by the Sunday school; Scripture lesson, John Bryan of the youth division; prayer, Charles Atkin, representing the adult division; talk, "The Spirit of Epworth," Harry L. Dowler, general superintendent; song, John Cheney of the children's division, accompanied at the piano by Betty Grady; Sunday school lesson by Dr. Ingman.

Flag Ceremony Will Honor Men in Service

A service flag honoring men and boys of Salem Evangelical and Reformed church who have gone into the country's armed forces will be dedicated in the worship service Sunday at 10:30 a. m.

The V-shaped flag is white, against a red background, and the stars representing those in service are blue. Names of the men in service will be placed on an honor roll.

Representatives of Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, and the auxiliary, will carry the Christian and American flags into the auditorium. The congregation will sing "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "The Star-Spangled Banner."

The sermon by Rev. H. C. Ahrens will be on "Sacrifice, the Price of Victory."

The Church of Today

A SERMONETTE
By REV. HENRY MAAG
Pastor, Prospect Street Methodist Church

Matthew 16:18—"And upon this rock will I build my church."

EVERYTHING today has been thrown out of joint. In the midst of this confusion and chaos, what can we accept as the chief function of the church? Why is your job and mine? How can we go about our Father's business? We ask: What is the church? What is its very essence and mission? Dr. Howard Warren says: "The Christian church is the noblest and holiest institution in existence. It is the salt of the earth, the light of the world. Down through the centuries it has kept alive the beautiful spirit and the incomparable teachings of Jesus, and has spread its influence upon countless lives. One hesitates to think of what the world would be without the church."

The church as we understand it, is a living social and spiritual organism through which flows the life of the great Master Spirit of humanity—Jesus Christ. The church as a whole is the continuation of the Christ personality—His spirit and ideals. This gives to the church a unique character and mission, and one that involves much sacrificial devotion.

No continuous organized movement has ever had a mission in life history, a conquest over difficulties and an idealism comparable to that of the Christian church. No organization has done so much in molding human society and individual character.

Father, Daughter Program Arranged

Fathers and Daughters night will be observed by fathers and daughters of the Forest Lawn Presbyterian church Monday night. Edwin B. Spohn is general chairman for the meeting, which will open with a potluck supper at 6:30 o'clock, followed by a program.

Mr. Spohn has named Robert Atkinson as chairman of the men's committee, Mrs. W. P. Converse, chairman of the women's committee, and E. L. Pennock and Miss Elaine Smith in charge of attendance.

The program will include a debate on "Relative Merits of a Dad" and motion pictures shown by Harold Carroll.

Spelling Contest March 25

MARYSVILLE, March 21—The annual Union county spelling bee will be held at the Marysville high school building March 25. It was announced Friday by County Supt. Gale W. Baldwin. Two divisions will be held, one for the 4th, 5th and 6th grades and for the 6th, 7th and 8th grades.

FINED AT DELAWARE

DELAWARE, March 21.—Vern Covett, 23, of east of Delaware, was fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty Thursday before Mayor Hosea Spaulding to a charge of operating an automobile at an excessive speed. He was released after paying the fine. The charge was one of two filed by Police Chief E. A. Amrine after Covett allegedly drove his car through the city at 70 miles an hour and then assaulted Patrolman Don Johnson who pursued him to his home on the Sunbury road. The charge of resisting an officer was dropped at the request of Patrolman Johnson.

Chinese Ambassador Sees Turning of Tide

COLUMBUS, O., March 21.—Dr. Hu Shih, Chinese ambassador to the United States, believes the "tide has now turned but victory is not yet in sight" for the allies in the present war.

"A long and hard fight still faces your nation, my nation and all our allies," but let me assure you that my people will not cease fighting until that victory is won," he said in an address here last night.

Earlier he received a doctor of laws degree at Ohio State university's winter commencement.

PRECAUTIONS URGED AS FIRE SAFEGUARD

Underwriters Issue List To Help Check Loss.

Every year thousands of homes are damaged and millions of dollars lost due to fires caused by negligence. This despite the great advances in fire-fighting efficiency.

In an effort to prevent fires, the National Board of Fire Underwriters has issued this list of general precautions which, if properly observed, will greatly minimize the likelihood of fire in the home.

Chimneys, stoves, and furnaces should be kept clean; constant checks should be made to determine that they are in good repair. Ashes should always be emptied into metal containers, never wooden ones. This precaution also applies to the storage of rags and mops that may contain paint or oil stains.

Heating plants should never be forced. If the heating unit is not giving the required result, a heating expert should be called. Always make sure that electrical appliances are disconnected, even if you leave them for only a minute.

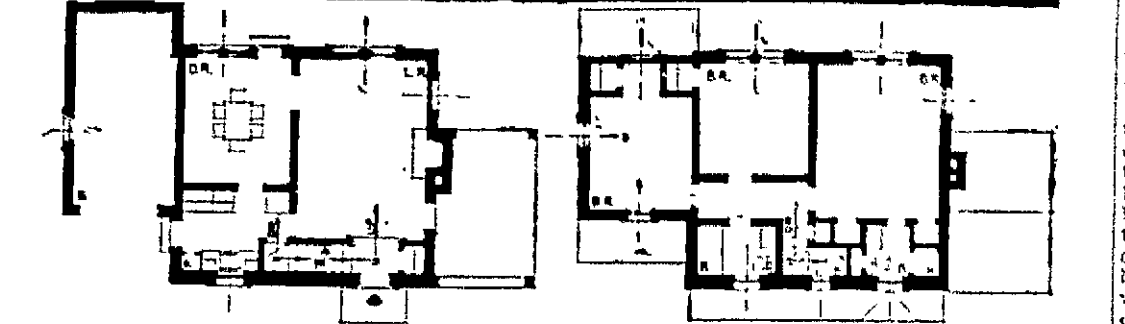

Do not use cheap, inferior, or defective electrical equipment. In this respect it is best to use equipment listed as approved by Underwriters Laboratories, Inc.

Never, under any circumstances, use inflammable cleaning fluids, such as naphtha, gasoline, or benzene.

Guard against the accumulation of rubbish, anywhere, especially in attic or basement. Make sure that all gas connections are rigid and tight. Do not use rubber or other flexible tubing.

Always place an iron screen with a fine mesh in front of the fireplace.

There is an atmosphere of dignity and permanence to this two-story stone and brick home. Well planned and well located, it represents the type of house most American families would hope to own.

THE GARDEN CLINIC

By VICTOR H. RIES O. S. U. Extension Floriculturalist.

Q. I would appreciate information on the following: What is the best method for composting leaves from shade trees and how long will they have to be in the compost pile before they are available as plant food? L. G. B., Marietta.

A. Leaves are composted merely by piling them up and leaving them alone. If this pile is above ground and allowed to receive the normal rainfall, it should be sufficiently decayed in one season to be used either as a mulch or as a humus to spade into the soil to improve its physical condition. Compost, unless mature or other fertilizing material has been added, is of no value as a fertilizer.

Q. Where may I secure a spray calendar for fruit trees? What fruit trees may I plant that do not need spraying or liming? A. Your county agricultural agent has a bulletin on spraying fruit trees which gives complete instructions both as to the materials to use and as to the time of application. He also will have a bulletin on pruning fruit trees. Of all the fruit trees, the sour and sweet cherry trees probably are the ones that will require the least attention.

Q. Will you advise the proper way to trim evergreens? A. The method of pruning evergreens depends entirely on the kind of evergreen. Therefore, you must know the kind of evergreen you have, that is whether it is a pine, fir, or spruce on which the new growth can be cut back part way each June. It is seldom practical to cut any of these three kinds of evergreens back more than this because they do not normally produce new growth from the older twigs. The yews, junipers, arbovitae, and Chamocyparis (Retinospora) may be cut back much more severely, partly because of the numerous small side twigs and partly because they seem to have slightly greater ability to produce new buds on the older twigs. This is particularly true of the yews and the junipers. However, even with these few exceptions, it is not advisable to cut them so far back that there are no small side branches to continue growing.

May I suggest that you ask your county agricultural agent for a copy of the bulletin "Ornamental Evergreens."

Q. Will you advise the proper way to trim evergreens? A. The method of pruning evergreens depends entirely on the kind of evergreen. Therefore, you must know the kind of evergreen you have, that is whether it is a pine, fir, or spruce on which the new growth can be cut back part way each June. It is seldom practical to cut any of these three kinds of evergreens back more than this because they do not normally produce new growth from the older twigs. The yews, junipers, arbovitae, and Chamocyparis (Retinospora) may be cut back much more severely, partly because of the numerous small side twigs and partly because they seem to have slightly greater ability to produce new buds on the older twigs. This is particularly true of the yews and the junipers. However, even with these few exceptions, it is not advisable to cut them so far back that there are no small side branches to continue growing.

May I suggest that you ask your county agricultural agent for a copy of the bulletin "Ornamental Evergreens."

Q. I would appreciate information on the following: What is the best method for composting leaves from shade trees and how long will they have to be in the compost pile before they are available as plant food? L. G. B., Marietta.

A. Leaves are composted merely by piling them up and leaving them alone. If this pile is above ground and allowed to receive the normal rainfall, it should be sufficiently decayed in one season to be used either as a mulch or as a humus to spade into the soil to improve its physical condition. Compost, unless mature or other fertilizing material has been added, is of no value as a fertilizer.

How To Combat Blighted Urban Areas Subject of New FHA Book

New Booklet Lists Procedures for Programs of Rehabilitation and Redevelopment.

Sound procedures in attacking the comprehensive and complex problems of rehabilitating and redeveloping blighted urban areas are suggested in the Federal Housing Administration's new publication, "A Handbook on Urban Development for Cities in the United States."

The publication is designed to establish a pattern of action for local communities in planned undertakings through a partnership of private capital and public capital and is directed largely toward public officials of municipalities who must prepare and take the necessary steps for rehabilitation and redevelopment projects.

"For many years urban slums and blighted areas have been spreading, becoming more intensified, and breaking out in new spots," the publication states. "Collectively they have reached startling proportions. It is to help prevent further spread of such property blight, and as an antidote to those areas already infected, that this publication is offered."

The problem of urban rehabilitation is expected to assume an even more important aspect after the war, it is stated by Federal Housing Administrator Alvin H. Ferguson in announcing publication of the handbook. He points out that the United States must be ready after the war to proceed with an orderly restoration of the economic system, in which urban redevelopment will play a leading role.

The FHA's handbook is based on surveys made under the supervision of Earle S. H. per, assistant administrator, who directed preparation of the text.

In a foreword to the handbook, Administrator Ferguson points out that one of the important obligations imposed upon the FHA is the making of such realistic surveys and studies as are deemed necessary to guide the development of housing and the creation of a sound mortgage market in the United States.

"In the background of its operations in cities the Federal Housing Administration has long been conscious of the menace of urban blight on the older twigs. This is particularly true of the yews and the junipers. However, even with these few exceptions, it is not advisable to cut them so far back that there are no small side branches to continue growing."

Q. Where may I secure a spray calendar for fruit trees? What fruit trees may I plant that do not need spraying or liming? A. Your county agricultural agent has a bulletin on spraying fruit trees which gives complete instructions both as to the materials to use and as to the time of application. He also will have a bulletin on pruning fruit trees. Of all the fruit trees, the sour and sweet cherry trees probably are the ones that will require the least attention.

Devotion to Man Inspires Soldiers, Briton Said, and Allied Commander Has Always Had It.

(Douglas MacArthur is pictured in the center of the group of four officers in the new command of United Nations forces in the southwest Pacific. Next to him are Generalissimo Quezon, General Wavell and General Blarney.)

By FRANK L. WELLS

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(Wire)—General Sir Archibald Wavell, commander of the new command of United Nations forces in the southwest Pacific, said today that MacArthur's devotion to man inspires soldiers, Briton said, and Allied Commander has always had it.

Wavell, who is in the Philippines, said that MacArthur's devotion to man is the key to his success. He said that MacArthur's devotion to man is the key to his success. He said that MacArthur's devotion to man is the key to his success.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA—The hyphen in this republic's name has caused newspaper copyreaders as much grief as has the attempt to get the name into a one-column headline. Appeasement hit its low at Munich but it was Czechoslovakia (unhyphenated before Hitler's grab) that felt the first and indicative result of that diplomatic meeting. Hitler hit out the Sudeten (3,150,000 population); Hungary grabbed a piece (1 million population) and Poland muscled in for the Teschen (241,000 population), removing half of the country's 3,800,000 population. Then came the hyphen. Nazi infiltration, Hitler's abolition of Czechoslovakia and the Bohemian girls became underground agents, carrying on sabotage and espionage work, while the new United Nations looked on. The late Czechoslovakia (before the separation) possessed one of the richest territories in Europe or elsewhere in the world. Her munitions factories, her breweries, her textile factories, glass works, sugar crops, cereals, her iron, her highly skilled workers are feeding the Axis armies. Her intensely loyal and unhyphenated citizens revere Dr. Eduard Benes, whom the Nazis forced out of the republic's presidency in October, 1938, and who Jeremiah-like preached to those who heeded him not that "a great struggle for either the downfall or the victory of freedom, democracy and the dignity of the human individual" was ripening in Europe and would engulf the world.

When "the enormous masses of people who wait for the moment to rise and return Europe to democratic, liberal traditions" decide that moment has arrived, the Czechoslovakians will drop their hyphens and gaudleers overboard and welcome the determined people of Europe back home.

SHOW BOAT GIRL

CHAPTER TWELVE
Plot by Dolores

And before she could escape Alice looked up and saw her. Instantly Alice jerked erect and her white face was convulsed by the effort to check her tears. "I'm terribly sorry, Alice—I wasn't snooping, honestly," said Melissa in a swift, apologetic apology. "I just wanted to ask you for something—and I didn't realize that I was moving so quietly you couldn't hear me."

Alice sniffed, blew her nose vigorously and said unsteadily, "It's all right, Mel. I'm glad it was you that caught me off-center instead of that hell-cat of a Dolores. Sorry I slopped over. Just forget it, will you, honey?"

"Of course," answered Melissa instantly, and then in a little warm rush of words she said sweetly, "I'm terribly sorry you're unhappy, Alice. I don't suppose there's anything I can do, but if there is, you know how glad I'd be."

Alice managed a grin that contained a faint semblance of her usual gaiety. "Thanks, Mel. I know you would," she answered. "But there's just that—well, I guess I'm homesick for my baby. Don't you, why wouldn't I? He's only eight months old, and he's growing up without his mother around, and—well, a baby only grows up once, and—it's only right that his mother should have the fun of watching him do it, isn't it?"

"Of course!" Melissa was vigorously about it. "But I didn't even know you had a baby, Alice."

"Very few people do," said Alice grimly. "Our agent tried to tell us we were a couple of fools when we decided to turn down all contracts for a year while we returned and had a baby. He said we could never come back. We were at the top of the heap, dancing in the swankiest New York night spots, and they wanted us for a movie."

"But I'm twenty-six and I didn't want to wait longer for a baby, so I persuaded Hugh it would be all right. Well, we had some money saved up and invested, and we thought we had the world by the tail on a down-hill drag."

She paused and wiped her eyes again and sniffed. "But it didn't work out that way. Funny, things seldom do, I guess," she went on after a moment as though it relieved her to talk about it. "Some of our Reading the city, Randy parked the car near an office building and hurried to the office. He was not at all tired. He was waiting for Randy's return.

Dolores didn't seem to talk to Melissa. She stood beneath the wheel, resting her hands upon it as she looked out into the busy street, humming a little song. And Melissa was perfectly willing to be as silent.

A tall young man, coming toward them from the office building, greeted them with a friendly "Hello, you two," he greeted them, and Melissa recognized Jimmy Marston. "Ace sent me out to tell you that he's going to be tied up for an hour or so. He and Dad are up to their ears in skull-duggery of some kind. So I am to have the honor of telling you two fair women to be. Please look very excited and very thrilled."

"But we are, of course—only Melissa's shy," said Dolores sweetly and warmly. "How very nice of you to take pity on us."

"It's a pleasure," Jimmy beamed happily. "My car's right over here. We'll leave Ace's here so he can join us."

He took them to the city's smartest rendezvous, and Melissa, looking about her, would have loved it if Randy, instead of Jimmy Marston, had been with them. But Jimmy was trying hard to be pleasant and amusing and she forced herself to rise to the occasion.

Several men came over to them, table, their admiring eyes on Dolores—who was gay and charming, and Melissa thought privately, a little silly. One or two of the men asked Dolores to dance; Jimmy and Melissa danced. It was all very gay and pleasant—until Jimmy was called away from the table and Dolores and Melissa were alone for a moment.

Dolores spoke half under her breath, but her tone stung with its venom. "Of course it's not really any of my business, but I do think that a certain amount of decent gratitude to Ace is indicated just here. Or would you be just an ill-mannered brat from the back-woods who never heard of gratitude?"

Miss Melissa stared, wide-eyed, too puzzled for the moment to be angry. "Gratitude to Randy? Of course I'm grateful to him—I'd go anything for Randy!" she protested hotly.

"Then why not prove it by being a little more human to Jimmy Marston? His dad could make or break Ace tomorrow if he wanted to. Marston owns a three-fourths interest in the River Queen, and he'd kick Ace out without a moment's hesitation if Jimmy wanted him to," said Dolores.

Dolores snapped harshly. "Oh,

Suggestions For Bedroom Planning

A few principles of bedroom planning offered by building planners are: Economy in the area of sleeping rooms, as well as improvement in their convenience, is obtained by correct location of door and window openings to assure maximum wall space for furniture. Convenience in use of bedroom is increased when the dresser and the closet are reasonably close together. Housekeeping convenience is increased when there is sufficient space to permit the bed to be made from two sides. Window openings should not occur immediately over a bed, especially near the head of the bed.

PRECAUTIONS URGED AS FIRE SAFEGUARD

Underwriters Issue List To Help Check Loss.

Every year thousands of homes are damaged and millions of dollars lost due to fires caused by negligence. This despite the great advances in fire-fighting efficiency.

In an effort to prevent fires, the National Board of Fire Underwriters has issued this list of general precautions which, if properly observed, will greatly minimize the likelihood of fire in the home.

Chimneys, stoves, and furnaces should be kept clean; constant checks should be made to determine that they are in good repair. Ashes should always be emptied into metal containers, never wooden ones. This precaution also applies to the storage of rags and mops that may contain paint or oil stains.

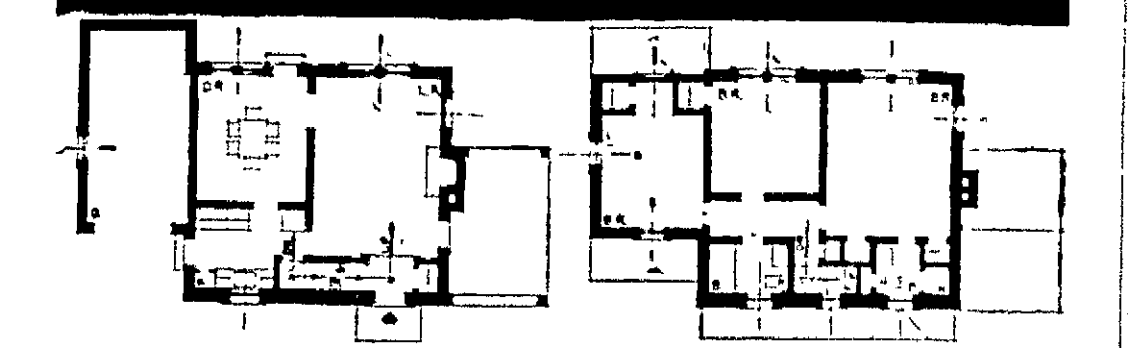

Heating plants should never be forced. If the heating unit is not giving the required result, a heating expert should be called. Always make sure that electrical appliances are disconnected, even if you leave them for only a minute.

Do not use cheap, inferior, or defective electrical equipment. In this respect it is best to use equipment listed as approved by Underwriters Laboratories, Inc. Never, under any circumstances, use inflammable cleaning fluids, such as naphtha, gasoline, or benzene.

Guard against the accumulation of rubbish anywhere, especially in attic or basement. Make sure that all gas connections are rigid and tight. Do not use rubber or other flexible tubing.

Always place an iron screen with a fine mesh in front of the fireplace.

A Home of Dignity and Permanence

There is an atmosphere of dignity and permanence to this two-story stone and brick home. Well planned and well located, it represents the type of house most American families some day hope to own. One unusual feature of the plan is that the kitchen, entrance and stairwell are located in front, leaving the dining room and living room opening onto the rear where they may overlook a garden and at the same time are shielded from street noises.

THE GARDEN CLINIC

By VICTOR H. RIES, O. S. C. Extension Floriculturist.

Q. I would appreciate information on the following: What is the best method for composting leaves from shade trees and how long will they have to be in the compost pile before they are available as plant food? L. G. B. Marietta

A: Leaves are composted merely by piling them up and leaving them alone. If this pile is above ground and allowed to receive the normal rainfall, it should be sufficiently decayed in one season to be used either as a mulch or as a humus to spade into the soil to improve its physical condition. Compost, unless mature or other fertilizing material has been added, is of no value as a fertilizer.

Q. Where may I secure a spray calendar for fruit trees? What fruit trees may I plant that do not need spraying or pruning? A. Your county agricultural agent has a bulletin on spraying fruit trees which gives complete instructions both as to the materials to use and as to the time of application. He also will have a bulletin on pruning fruit trees. Of all the fruit trees, the sour and sweet cherry trees probably are the ones that will require the least attention.

Q. Will you advise the proper way to trim evergreens? A. The method of pruning evergreens depends entirely on the kind of evergreen. Therefore, you must know the kind of evergreen you have, that is whether it is a pine, fir, or spruce on which the new growth can be cut back part way each June. It is seldom practical to cut any of these three kinds of evergreens back more than this because they do not normally produce new growth from the older twigs. The yew, juniper, arbutus, and Chamaecyparis (Retino-sora) may be cut back much more severely, partly because of the numerous small side twigs and partly because they seem to have a slightly greater ability to produce new buds on the older twigs. This is particularly true of the yew and the juniper. However, even with these it is not a good idea to cut them so far back that there are no small side branches to continue growing. May I suggest that you ask your county agricultural agent for a copy of the bulletin "Ornamental Evergreens."

How To Combat Blighted Urban Areas Subject of New FHA Book

New Booklet Lists Procedures for Programs of Rehabilitation and Redevelopment.

Sound procedures in attacking blighted areas and the consequent problems of rehabilitating and redeveloping them are suggested in the Federal Housing Administration's new publication, "How To Combat Blighted Urban Areas." This booklet is intended to establish a procedure for local communities in planning and carrying out a program of rehabilitation and redevelopment. It is a guide to the methods used to solve the problem of blighted areas and to the steps that must be taken to bring about a permanent solution. The booklet is a valuable reference for anyone interested in the problem of blighted urban areas.

REVOLVING SHELVES

Even kitchen cabinets are doing extra duty for defense now-a-days. That space behind corner cabinets that was unused in the pre-war era, is now being utilized by a smart new idea—revolving shelves. Two large revolving shelves, 36 inches in diameter, fit into two corner cabinets that use at right angles to each other. Either day or night, the shelves can be turned to the shelves, one of which is revolving to turn the floor and the other 20. The revolving shelves revolve on ball bearings, and are equipped with a locking device to hold them in position. They are made of a material which is resistant to fire, and are easy to clean. They are a valuable addition to any kitchen.

News Behind the News

Opposition to Anti-40 Hour Week Bill Traced Directly to White House.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 21—The opposition to the anti-40 hour week bill, which would limit the work week of federal employees to 40 hours, is being traced directly to the White House, according to a source familiar with the situation.

The source, who is a high-ranking official in the executive branch, said that the White House is opposed to the bill because it would increase the cost of government operations and would be a burden on the taxpayers.

The bill, which was introduced in the House of Representatives last week, would require federal employees to work no more than 40 hours a week, with overtime pay for any hours worked in excess of 40.

The White House is also opposed to the bill because it would be a precedent for other government agencies to demand overtime pay for their employees.

The source said that the White House is also concerned about the possibility of a strike by federal employees if the bill is passed.

The bill has already passed the House of Representatives by a large margin, but it still faces a strong opposition in the Senate.

News Correspondents Are Called to Battle Fronts Again To Tell Us What They Can See.

By DAMON RUNYON

When the war is over, the news correspondents will be called to battle fronts again to tell us what they can see. They will be the first to see the results of the fighting, and they will be the first to tell us about it.

They will be the first to see the results of the fighting, and they will be the first to tell us about it. They will be the first to see the results of the fighting, and they will be the first to tell us about it.

That's the Spirit!

ONE hundred workers in a Detroit aluminum factory added an extra half hour to their eight-hour shift one night as a tribute to Gen. MacArthur. They said that the example will be followed—and not just for one night.

This is the spirit that will keep the United States from losing the war. It's the spirit that has been bubbling up from day down deep for a long time. It's beginning to make itself felt at last.

All that's needed to make it the most dynamic thing of its kind on earth is a good hot spark to set it aflame. The spark will be provided by someone, somewhere. Perhaps it already has been provided, but hasn't caught yet.

Gen. MacArthur has done a lot. A handful of heroes here and there on the battlefields have done more than their share. The spirit that is going to transform America is there and is going to be heard from—just like the "shot heard 'round the world" when government by the people was founded.

It couldn't be any other way. Americans were willing to string along with isolation and defensive attitudes when that was the thing to do. They were willing to take a chance on letting Great Britain do the fighting while it did the producing of weapons at a fat profit when that was the thing to do. But things are different now. Americans are doing the whole job. It's like fighting a war on an assembly line; Americans are putting the stuff together, then turning down to the place where the finished product rolls off and grabbing it to fight with. This isn't somebody else's war now, with the United States getting the stuff for the combatants wholesale. It's this country's war.

Every time that fact has settled another quarter of an inch into national consciousness, there has been a change. One of the changes is occurring now. The transformation is making individuals and crowds of individuals want to know how much they can do for the national war effort, instead of how little. This country is out of neutral and picking up speed in low gear. Before the end of this year it will be careening along in second, getting ready to shift into high—and watch out for flying Axis when that happens.

Forget about the quibbles and squabbles and the blabbermouths who wonder whether to crack eggs on the little end or the big end. Quit worrying about the tee dancers and bump analysts and pickie wart experts who have such a nasty habit of getting into the foreground and blotting out the view. They aren't the spirit of America in 1942. They are the same crowd that got in the way in 1776 and 1865 and 1918.

The people who matter are rarely in the foreground, but when they do get there they look mighty good. Generals like MacArthur who know how to do what all generals are supposed to know how to do. Businessmen like Donald Nelson who pitch into the thankless job of government administration. Workers who get fed up with a lot of guff about their negative rights and begin to think seriously about their positive rights—such as putting in a few extra fancy ticks for the United States of America. Employers who quit worrying about getting caught with their stocks down and start worrying about winning the war for their side. Soldiers who give their job a little of "that old college try" which has become the characteristic of Americans in competition. These are the Americans who are going to win the war. They are beginning to take over—and high time.

THIS is a simplified presentation of the present setup and future plans for the Tennessee Valley Authority stream and river control system, launched in 1933. Today the main emphasis is on the electric power the system can contribute to war industry, but its other purposes are extended navigation of the Tennessee, and a carefully worked out flood control program. A glance at the system shows how various dams may be used to hold flood water in dangerous periods or release stored water when needed.

Completion of the Watts Bar Dam, expected next December, will bring to more than $500,000,000 the amount expended. Already completed on the main river are the Pickwick, Wilson, Wheeler, Guntersville, Hales Bar (acquired from the Tennessee Power Company), Chickamauga and Watts Bar dams. The huge Kentucky dam ($105,000,000) will be completed in 1944, the Fort Loudoun (just below Knoxville) late next fall. Of dams on the tributaries, TVA has completed the Norris, the Hiwassee, and the Cherokee. Control of others was acquired by purchase and special agreements. Fontana, Ocoee No. 3, Nottely, Chatuge, and Apalachia dams are under construction.

A Citizen's Pledge

I PLEDGE myself to the common cause by eager submission to any sacrifice that hastens victory.

I will keep physically fit and spiritually calm.

I will not indulge in careless talk, in idle fears, or selfish ambitions.

I will exert my greatest energies to help in the fulfillment of our war production program.

I will give generously of my time to civilian defense projects.

I appreciate that business is not as usual. I accept this situation cheerfully and pledge myself to do nothing in my business which will interfere with my country's need.

I recognize that the home represents the hope of America. I will help to keep it a shrine of harmony and beauty, a citadel of strength and courage. I will conserve materials. I will not hoard. I will systematically save so as to anticipate my taxes. I will pay these cheerfully and promptly. I will invest in Savings Bonds and Stamps.

I will always bear in mind that as a loyal citizen of this great democracy it is my personal responsibility to defend it to the utmost.

HITLER would now like to stop the trial at Rome, and so would his French agent, M. de Bonin. Well they might. For the plot which they conceived has backfired. Despite a terrorism and the treasury which envelops them, the principal figures in the trial—the judges, as well as the accused—have shown that they are unconquered Frenchmen.

Hitler and his agents may have realized that M. Deladier, M. Blum and M. Guy La Chambre were, whatever their weaknesses and failures as officials, men of honor and of personal courage. What has surprised Hitler is the degree to which the court itself has shown itself willing to maintain the honor of France. It is not only the judges, but the accused, who have shown that they are unconquered Frenchmen.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Monday, March 21, 1932. Will Rogers in his daily dispatch, commenting on the news of the day, wrote: "The time of day is not in the least as it is in the day of its own."

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Brumbaugh of First Center Street left on a month's trip to Washington, D. C., St. Petersburg and Miami, Fla.

G. F. Waddell, secretary of the Marion Lodge, was appointed a member of the Marion County Children's Home to fill out the unexpired term of W. J. Wen.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Tuesday, March 21, 1912. Official call for suspension of mining operations at a district, March 21, in honor of the anniversary of the battle of Marston.

The German press expressed high satisfaction over the announcement that the American army of occupation would be withdrawn from the Rhine area. "It is the first American step toward peace," said the Berlin Voss Zeitung.

It was announced that a relation of a new turbo-generator which would increase the capacity of the plant was under way at the State power plant of the C. & D. M. Electric Co. A. F. Van Doren, general manager, and the plant engineer, approved the plan which would be ready for use by June.

Ginger Rogers Stars in Movie Based on Play "Chicago."

"Roxie Hart," with Ginger Rogers in the title role, now in a week's stay at the Ohio, is based on the play, "Chicago," which was highly successful back in the prohibition-gangster days.

The 1942 version is a comedy, burlesquing Chicago in the roaring days when a pretty woman could get a "not guilty" verdict from any jury.

When a man confesses to a murder, a reporter kills the story and suggests that Roxie let herself be tried for the crime. Learning of the publicity she will gain from the trial and gaining the promise of a vaudeville contract, she agrees to stand trial—for her career's sake.

Adolphe Menjou plays the top-flight criminal lawyer who is hired to defend her. The newspapers play up the trial as a show. Special reporters are assigned, newsmen and radio cover the event. Roxie becomes a nationwide figure.

George Montgomery plays a cub reporter who believes that Roxie is innocent.

The picture opening next Friday, "Always in My Heart," brings a new face to the screen.
Gloria Warren, acclaimed one of the real-for-sure screen finds.
She's a 15-year-old singer.

The starring roles are played by Kay Francis and Walter Huston.
Patty Hale, Frankie Thomas, and Borrah Mineevitch and His Rascals play featured roles.
The film will be run seven days and will be sponsored by Marion Bethel. Jeb's Daughters.

LIPPMANN

inconceivably stupid it will be if we do not take full advantage of the fact that to them America is more than ever the land of promise.

No one knows this better than the President, and indeed no one has a greater hold upon our hidden allies than he has. It is, therefore, useful, I believe, to point out that the President's subordinates are failing him lamentably in grasping the opportunity and in making his leadership effective.

There are many branches and agencies of the government concerned with this great matter—primarily the department of justice, the state department, the Donovan organization and, in lesser though important degree, the treasury, land-dear, the war department through the selective service machinery, the Office of Civilian Defense, and the Red Cross. There is, however, no such thing as a policy—though in the President's mind there is certainly the intention to have a policy. There is no policy because no one who understands the matter has sufficient authority, and those who have some authority have not sufficiently understood the problem.

Consider what happened when the question arose of making the Pacific Coast secure against the fifth column. Mr. Biddle, with the best intentions in the world, based his first position on two legalistic and unworkable principles: one was that in policing the combat zone, the distinction between the alien and the citizen must be preserved; the second was that no one should be disturbed unless evidence, almost good enough to convict him in a court, had been unearthed by the official investigation. Mr. Biddle, who remembers much more vividly what he disliked in the other war than he realizes what has been done in this war, was producing a situation on the Pacific coast which by the end of January had become deplorable. He was failing to make this threatened area secure and, what is no less important, he was failing to make the military authorities and the people feel secure. Thus there was a double danger—the danger of the fifth column itself and the danger of a popular vigilante movement to deal with it.

Improved Policy

His policy had to be scrapped and replaced by a kind of martial law which is now being administered without preparations made in advance to deal effectively and humanely with the evacuated people. A problem which might profitably have been studied and dealt with by the Office of Civilian Defense is being dealt with by improvisation. What is more, because it has so many far-reaching implications, the security measures are based on the wrong principle: instead of evacuating the areas on the principle of military security which is applicable alike to all citizens and all aliens, Mr.
Biddle had no principle when his earlier principles failed him. We are evacuating Japanese, regardless of their citizenship, whereas if the matter had been properly conceived—as a measure of military security—this unfortunate stigma need not in principle have been brought into the matter. The legal fiction, which in a matter of this sort is profoundly important, could have been preserved that we were evacuating individuals and not a racial group.

BREMEN REMAINS IN RUNNING FOR STATE CLASS B TITLE

Beats Lorain Clearview 42-34 To Enter Semi-Final Round; Bluffton, Somerset Still in.

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 21—Ohio crowns its 1942 Class B high school basketball champion tonight at Wittenberg college field house and somewhere among the four semi-finalists clashing this afternoon is a worthy wearer of the crown.

There was no such thing as a favorite as Somerset, from the Southeastern district prepared to meet Wayneburg's Mohawk from the Northwest and Bluffton of the Northwest awaited its game with Bremen's undefeated Central district champs in the semi-finals.

The four survivors are all that remain of the 602 starters in the Class B cage wars, and all must have plenty of talent to get this far.

In yesterday's games, Bremen ran its winning streak to 25 by beating Lorain Clearview, 42 to 34, wrecking the Lorain victory string of 24 straight contests; Bluffton held Yorkville to a single point in the third period to win a 35 to 27 decision; Somerset wrecked a good Webster team which had been beaten but once in 25 games, 37 to 21, while Wayneburg spotted Ottawa Hills a 9 to 2 lead and then roared back to win 42 to 20.

The Ottawa Hills defeat swept Dave Thompson, six-foot seven-inch center, out of the tourney with the two-game scoring record. The huge lad scored 34 points in his two attempts. Next in line is Bremen's sensational red-haired forward, Hughie Jones, who has 32 points.

WOLCOTT POSTS NEW WORLD MARK AS RICE, WARMERDAM STAR

Former Ace of Rice Institute Blazes to Victory in Three Hurdle Events.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 21—Greg Rice and Cornelius Warmerdam were the darlings of the crowd of 16,000 at the sixth annual Chicago Relays last night but it was Wolcott, undisputed master of the hurdle field, who won the honor of making the greatest assault on the record book.

Wolcott, former Rice star, swept the hurdle series—including 10, 50 and 60-yard high sprints and belted one world record and equaled two others.

The 10-yard race Wolcott won in 3 seconds, breaking the old record of 3.1 seconds which Allan Polmich of Detroit established in the Chicago Relays in 1938. In the 50-yard event he tied the 6.1 second mark held jointly by himself and Bob Wright of Ohio State. The 60-yard race went to Wolcott in 7.2 seconds, which equaled the mark he set last year on the same track.

The only other world record equalling achievement was by Herbert Thompson of Jersey City, N. J., who tied Ben Johnson's 4.1 second record in the 40-yard dash.

Warmerdam, after making a vault of 15 feet 2 inches look easy, barely missed at 15 feet 3 inches, brushing off the bar on his third attempt. Warmerdam's competition had dropped out after 12 feet 6 inches. His winning effort was a new relay record.

Rice made it a one-man two-mile race and won going away in 8 minutes 53 seconds, less than two seconds over his own world record. Gil Dodds, former Ashland college star, finished half a lap behind.

Charles Bertram of Columbus, O., finished second in 100 yards, just as the Great Lakes Naval Training Station in the 600-yard run. The winner's time was 1 minute 11.5 seconds.

Ohio State's mile matched university relay team also was second to Notre Dame, whose time of 3:10.2 shattered the former record of 3:20.1 set by Ohio State and Iowa in 1939.

Phils Tagged for National Loop Cellar

Even Base-Stealing Murtaugh Can't Boost Philadelphia Chances.

By DILLON GRAHAM
Wide World Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—There's a young fellow down here with the Phils who figures that if you can't find your way to fame and you haven't any powerful friends to push you along, the best formula for success is to steal.

He put that theory into practice last season and became the most prominent base thief in the National League.

In fact, his daring burglaries sometimes made the Phils (see Philadelphia) something of a terror, and that is really something.

His name is Daniel Edward (Danny) Murtaugh and he is a little 165-pound Irishman from Chester, Pa., who got his minor league seasoning way down in Texas with Houston. He came up to the Phils in mid-season and, after giving the other guys quite a head start, quickly overhauled them to romp off with the bag pilfering honors, with 18.

Danny Murtaugh, peppery Phil second sacker, spears a hot one. Inset, Darrell Blanton, who may pitch a few Philadelphia victories.

"When I saw that kid," recalls Hans Lobert, the new manager who was a coach most of last year, "I took him aside and I says, 'say, kid, what do you get a thrill out of in baseball?' and he says 'I like to run' and I says 'well, kid, that's all I want to know. From now on you're running.' And he lit out."

"Hell, it got so at the end of the year that the Philadelphia fans were cheering him even when he got thrown out," he said. "Murtaugh ain't terribly fast but he watches those pitchers and their motions. He steals on the pitcher and not the catcher. The fans like it, 'cause sometimes he slides (feet first and sometimes head first)."

And so you can count on this Irish boy, who hit no home runs, only one triple and boasted the great batting average of .319, to be the regular second sacker for the Phils this year. "He don't hit much," explained Hans, "but somehow he gets on base pretty often."

Along with Murtaugh in the infield will be good-hitting Nick Etten at first base, Bob Bragan at short and Merrill May at third. Al Glessop, up from Kansas City, is trying to bust up that combination and gain a spot for himself and even if he doesn't succeed he'll be kept around as a utility man.

Ohio Conference To Consider Freshman Eligibility Again

Special Committee Urges Use of Frosh on Varsity Squads for Duration.

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 21—The Ohio athletic conference edged a step nearer using freshmen on varsity teams today, as the league's managers and athletic directors, studied a recommendation from a special committee named to define the problem.

The committee's work on record last night at a late session of the conference, which was held in the present emergency, B. J. in the same breath urged the conference to grant permission for the use of freshmen on varsity teams by the 20 member schools, desiring to do so. The freshman rule was tossed out during the World war, but rewritten into the conference code later.

The managers association was reported ready to adopt the committee's recommendation today and pass it along to the conference itself, made up of faculty representatives and athletic directors, which meets May 15 in Oberlin.

An unofficial poll of conference members, conducted by Walter J. Livingston of Denison university, found the conference young 23 to 12 in favor of using freshmen.

The athletic directors voted 12 to 12 in favor of the proposition while the faculty representatives gave the proposal a 9 to 8 edge in the off-the-record ballot.

Included in the committee's recommendation was a proposal that the conference put "back" into its non-recurring rule suspending from membership schools using athletic department members to contact prospective students.

H. J. Nichols of Oberlin said, "We feel, with the freshman rule about to be dropped for the duration of the war, that recruits should be frowned upon more than ever."

Should the freshman rule be dropped, athletes would not be a four-year varsity career if the committee's recommendation was accepted. The recommendation urges that each athlete be limited to three seasons of competition in any sport.

Committee members making recommendations were: Livingston, Nichols, John Van Why of Wittenberg, Harry Ockerman of Bowling Green, L. C. Boles of Wooster, R. J. Kuttler of Kenyon, Ray Ride of Case, and Bill Bernhart of Capital.

Training Camp News

By The Associated Press

SARASOTA, Fla.—X-ray pictures today showed that Jimmy Fox's broken toe was healing and indicated that the Boston Red Sox slugger would be back in action within a week. Ted Williams' hip injury also is improving but his return to the lineup still is a few days off.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Hal White's performance against the Cincinnati Reds yesterday virtually clinched the 23-year-old right-hander's job with the Detroit Tigers. He retired 12 Red batters in order in the four innings he worked. Harold Newhouser and Hal Mander opposed the Cleveland Indians today.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—Manager Leo Durocher was happy over Brooklyn's 12 to 4 pasting handed the New York Yankees yesterday but what he liked most was that neither of his pitchers, Johnny Allen and Newt Kimball, issued a base on balls.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Fireman Johnny Murphy made his initial appearance of the 1942 season today—in his usual relief role—and now all of the New York Yankee pitchers except Charles (Red) Ruffing have had their turn upon the mound.

TAMPA—Ben Wade and George Burpo, two 18-year-old rookies, are making it tough for Manager Bill McKechnie to decide the makeup of the Cincinnati Reds' mound staff.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

NEW YORK, March 21—You may argue that it isn't basketball, but this two-points-a-minute stuff really gets the fans. At the Garden the other night a guy who would walk out of a 1-0 ball game in the seventh inning saw Toledo bust the scoring record, then said: "Let's stick around and watch Rhode Island do it, too." Third Hall, the Atlanta Constitution sports writer who turned down a $6,500 publicity job to enlist in the navy, leaves today for San Diego, Calif.

Ev Morris of the New York Herald-Tribune also reports to the navy today. William (T-Bone) Mahoney, Notre Dame's youthful track coach, is the son of an old-time Arizona gold prospector. They say he has some pretty good prospects, too.

Today's Guest Star—Bob Phillips, Birmingham (Ala.) Page Herald: "It's nice, if a little unethical, that a talented baseball player should be financed through college by a professional team, especially if the player is genuinely interested in getting an education—whatever that means. Few schools lay it on the line in fees, board, books, laundry and extras for baseball players like they do for football players."

New Leaders Listed After Heavy Action

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 21—There's a definite "collar" atop the American Bowling Congress tournament team standings today.

Schultz of Milwaukee foamed into second place last night with a 310 total, only 28 behind the pace-setting Budweisers of Chicago.

But that wasn't all that bubbled. Allsports Equipment Co. of Flint, Mich., scored 2930 for fourth and the Michigan Auto club at Detroit rolled into fifth with 2904. The Adams Funeral Home of Akron, O., is third with 2856.

The Schlitz howlers put together games of 996, 1015 and 1094, their finale being the highest single game of the tournament.

In the singles, Robert Trischler of Norwood, posted 731 to take over the lead, and Frank Purse of Detroit rolled 686 for fifth.

DENVER, March 21—Top basketball marksmen match shots tonight in a renewal of one of the game's greatest rivalries, and the national A.A.U. title goes to the better shooters.

Phillips 66 of Oklahoma and the Denver American Legion, whose feud is the sharpest and oldest in present day amateur independent basketball, will close the week-long tournament in the championship game.

To reach the finals Denver brushed aside the 1941 champion, Hollywood Twentieth Century, 38 to 31. The Oilers beat Oakland, Calif., Golden States, 43-42.

550 POINTS A YEAR

WOOSTER, O.—Coach Mose Hole's sixteen Wooster basketball teams have won 267 and lost 75. They have outscored all opponents 12,846 to 9,573. His teams have won 66 of the last 70 Ohio Conference games.

KATE IN SELECT LIST

WOOSTER, O.—Karl Kate, captain of the Wooster basketball team this past season, led the Scots in scoring with 285 points to bring his three-year total to 305. He is the fifth Wooster player to score over 500 points.

8 CLASS A TEAMS BID FOR TOURNNEY BERTHS

Columbus South Loses to Dayton Roosevelt 36-28.

By The Associated Press

Four Class A regional Ohio high school basketball titles go on the block tonight as eight teams battle for the right to enter the state tourney at Kent next week-end.

Cambridge and Akron North meet at Denison; Xenia Central and Dayton Roosevelt fight it out at Dayton; Toledo Catholic and Mansfield tangle at Findlay, and Canton Lehman and Warren Harding are matched at Youngstown.

In last night's first round contests, Cambridge edged Steubenville 43-40; Akron North defeated Greenfield McClain 43 to 37; Xenia downed Cincinnati Roger Bacon 46-31; Dayton whipped Columbus South 36 to 28, Toledo beat out Celina 46-45 in an overtime contest; Mansfield won over Bowling Green 36-30; Canton Lehman took Lakewood 28-20 and Warren Harding swamped Akron Kenmore 30-28.

Acron North, gunning for its third state title, polished off the highly-touted Greenfield McClain outfit with ease and established themselves as odds-on favorites to defeat the Cambridge Brownies tonight.

Acron's fast-breaking crew stayed out in front all the way despite the efforts of McClain's stellar center, Grate, who pitched in 23 points. Sadowksi, Akron guard, garnered 19.

Cambridge followers, however, were confident their entry could stop the Akronites. They pointed to the fact that the Brownies defeated Steubenville, the only team to trim Martins Ferry's 1940 Class A champions, Martins Ferry lost out in sectional play.

Most thrilling encounter in the regional playoffs was the Toledo Central Catholic-Celina game. The teams were tied at 41-41 at the end of the regular playing time and both squads tossed in two buckets in the overtime before Guard Bernie Hickey decided the game in Toledo's favor with a free throw.

This year marked the first that state cage championships have been decided in sectional-regional tournaments, the change having resulted when the American Bowling Congress took over the coliseum at the state fairgrounds in Columbus. Previously, both Class A and Class B scholastic tournaments were played there. The Class B spectacle is being held at Springfield.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

How Vitamins Work

SOMETHING like a really sensible explanation of the way the vitamins work is appearing. For a good many years since their discovery the only thing known about them was that, for instance, if Vitamin A was left out of the diet, it caused eye trouble such as night blindness and infection of the eye. If Vitamin B was left out of the diet it caused neuritis. If Vitamin C was left out of the diet, it caused scurvy and an absence of Vitamin D resulted in rickets.

Research workers continued to find vitamins such as Vitamins E, K, and P, substances which they named pyridoxine, biotin, pantothenic acid and if one or the other was removed from the diet of an experimental animal, certain effects in the way of ill health appeared in the animal.

Nobody knew just why these effects occurred. They didn't occur because the vitamins supplied an actual chemical to the tissues affected. For instance, Vitamin B, if removed from the diet, causes neuritis, but the chemical structure of Vitamin B is not like the chemical structure of a nerve. Therefore it is not because the nerve lacks an essential chemical to produce growth that Vitamin B deficiency causes nerve trouble.

We are beginning to find out that the vitamins probably act as catalysts. A catalyst effects a chemical reaction in a definite way, but it doesn't enter into the reaction. For instance, potassium placed in a test tube with oxygen and hydrogen will accelerate the combination of the oxygen and hydrogen but the potassium will not be changed itself.

Vitamin B acts in this way. It apparently speeds up all the exchanges of food in the body, allows the body to burn it more quickly, in fact speeds up all the life processes.

It has been found that climate and temperature affect the use of Vitamin B. In cool climates Vitamin B remains in the body longer and keeps heat generation going. In tropical climates it is eliminated rapidly and the food remains inert in the body and it turns into fat rather than energy so that in hot climates the natives are more likely to be sleepy and more likely to be obese.

Incidentally, I am glad to see that a good word is being said for my old friend, meat. For years every hygienist condemned meat. Nowadays they say that meat is the best source we have for Vitamin B and we all need some at least once or twice a week.

Vitamin B is not a single substance. There are about eleven subdivisions of Vitamin B, all more or less related, but all performing more or less different functions.

Incidentally, it is possible to get too much Vitamin B; at least it is possible to get too much thiamin chloride, which is Vitamin B1, so it won't do simply to stuff yourself on Vitamin B.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

After Escaping Detection by Those in the Other Arm—Full Speed Ahead.

MY EYES followed those of the driver, and I saw a big car whizzing along the concrete road toward the junction with the mountain road, where he had parked my father's armored car. I did not verify his excited assertion that the big car was really the armored car which had passed us on the Merritt Parkway, but I was willing to take his word for it.

Both our men evidently had seen the other car at the same time as the driver, and had stepped quickly to the side of the descending road most sheltered from observation by anyone passing along Route 7. But the other car slowed up as it neared the junction, and for a frantic second I thought the men in it had seen Gus and Bill, and were planning to get out and investigate them. But the lessened pace was only for a second, then the car swept on, and our driver gave a grunt of relief.

"They just slowed down to look at that sign which points to Kent," he said, pulling our car into gear and proceeding slowly toward the intersection, as both Gus and Bill climbed toward us. When they had come up to us, the driver put a crisp question.

"Do you think they bumped you?" "I'm sure they didn't," Bill said, and Gus nodded an assent.

"Don't you think one of us ought to go ahead to the junction, and see if it's coming back?" Gus asked.

"Good idea," the driver said. "Bill, you run down to the junction there, and walk up the road after that car. If you see it coming back, hide yourself. If you don't see it at the end of three minutes, blow your whistle and I'll cut across to the other road and wait for you. Get me?"

"Okay," Bill said, and forthwith set out down the road again, while Gus climbed into the car.

"There's nothing to worry about, Missis Graham," he said, looking at me anxiously, and I smiled confidently at him.

"I'm not worried about anything as long as you are on the job," I told him, and a brick-red flush overtook his cheeks.

"Thank you," he said. After that no word was spoken by any of us until, at the end of three minutes, we heard three blasts of a whistle.

"Sit tight!" the driver said. "We're going places."

Other Car Not Sighted

He swung the car into the road, then into the concrete road, and from there whizzed it into the narrow road at the left, at a speed which left me breathless. When he was well out of sight of the concrete highway he stopped and looked at his watch.

"I hope Bill steps on it," he said. "I want to get going."

Bill evidently "stepped on it," for it was less than three minutes when he came racing around the corner of the road and brought up opposite our car.

"I ran all the way back," he said, as Gus opened the car door for him, "and I kept looking back. They aren't anywhere in sight."

"I'm glad you hit it," the driver said. "If I can get some speed out of this bus you can beat that other car to Warren on quite a little. It's quite a bit shorter this way."

"You know what the Chief said about speeding," Gus said, but I interrupted him summarily.

"That rule is in the discard now," I said firmly. "My father himself would tell you to it he were here."

"The fact that those men are on this road proves conclusively to me that they are aiming for the same destination that I am trying to reach," I said. "It is vitally important that I get there not only first but well ahead of them. In my father's name I take all responsibility. Drive as fast as you possibly can."

Hardin County School Activities Curtailed

Special to The Star

KENTON, March 21—Hardin county's school executives today outlined a plan of conserving three and other needed defense materials during the forthcoming term. The number of teachers meetings was cut to two, with all group discussion periods to be held in conjunction with the general county sessions; only one honor society get-together was authorized; the number of interscholastic basketball games permissible for any one of the eight county high school teams to play is 12; baseball was eliminated as an interscholastic activity, and while each school will permit any pupil to have the day off to attend the county fair next fall, no school will transport the pupils to and from the fairground in buses.

Goddess of Justice To Stay on Perch

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, March 21—Fears expressed earlier in the week that it might be necessary to remove the statue of the Goddess of Justice from the tower on the Union county courthouse were dispelled when a contractor declared the statue to be firmly supported.

Wind several days ago tore most of the roofing from three sides at the base of the statue leaving the Goddess poised almost in thin air, or that is the way it appeared. The heavy wood and steel braces however were in almost as good condition as when placed there in 1883. Thus the report of the contractor who will repair the roof for the insurance companies has assured that the statue will continue to overlook the city and countryside.

Other Car Not Sighted

He swung the car into the road, then into the concrete road, and from there whizzed it into the narrow road at the left, at a speed which left me breathless. When he was well out of sight of the concrete highway he stopped and looked at his watch.

"I hope Bill steps on it," he said. "I want to get going."

Bill evidently "stepped on it,"
